DEUS
PROTECTOR NOSTER

As we mounted the stairs we faced a challenge: four years to use or to waste. We entered the door . . . breathless, excited, nervous, and curious. This was a time of new friendships, independence, and intellectual awakening. Rest was infrequent and some could not finish the climb. But in our years of change we found both ourselves and security. We learned that Emerson is more than buildings; it is experience. We approached and listened, asked and answered. We found that in order to grow we looked beyond ourselves. Four years made us aware. Now we have climbed the stairs and we must leave . . . happy because we have begun to master our talents; sad because we are leaving our friends; thankful for this experience called Emerson. No matter how many stairways lie before us, this one we shall never forget.

CLASS OF 1964

The face of Emerson is ever changing; yet to all who know it from the inside there is one beacon of stability. Devoted to Emerson, loved by Emerson . . . Haig der Marderosian.

S. Justus McKinley, Ph.D., LL.D.
President

Dear Emersonians:

The Class of 1964 is notable for both its size — the largest in many years — and its quality. You have made a fine record on campus and shown many evidences of the initiative, creative thinking and acceptance of responsibility that Emerson likes to foster.

We are happy about the growth and development each of you has achieved and feel that you are prepared to find your careers in fields well suited to your aptitudes and personalities.

The searching self-examination in our American community stemming from the tragic death of President John F. Kennedy shows clearly that education and communication must be vital concerns of all citizens interested in the survival of our free society. Individuals and groups must be enabled to make use of and adjust to the accelerating flow of new knowledge and new technology.

All Emersonians have special competence and, therefore, special responsibilities in these fields. We are confident that you will fulfill your duties as citizens as you have accepted your responsibilities as students. We are also confident that you, as alumni citizens of our college community, will bear your full part in helping your college to fulfill its responsibilities in the years ahead.

We who are remaining on campus wish you success in all well doing and will look forward to your first five-year reunion in 1969.

Sincerely yours,

S. Justus McKinley
